DEMOCRATS ACT AS ELECTION NEARS

FIVE ARMY MEN INJURED AS BIG PLANE CRASHES

Two Flyers May Die of Hurts;
Bomber Worth Half Million Is Wrecked

WRIGHT FIELD IS SCENE

Wing Spread of 100 Feet
is Unknown

DAYTON, Oct. 30—(INS)—
Two fliers were critically injured
and three others hurt here today
when the $500,000 giant Boeing
bomber, undergoing United States
army air tests, crashed at Wilbur
Wright field.

Major Ployer P. Hill, Seattle,
Wash., chief of the Wright field
staff, and Leslie Tower, Seattle,
pilot for the Boeing company, are near death from burns in a Dayton hospital and Lieut. Donald L.
Tutt, John Cutting and Mark
Kogler, army fliers, are suffering from serious injuries as a result of the crash.

Crash at 9:25 a. m.

The giant "flying fortress,"
bristling with gun turrets and fully equipped with fighting paraphenalia, plunged to the landing field
from a height of a few hundred
feet shortly after taking off at 9:25 a. m., and immediately caught
fire.

Army officials here said they
are unable to determine the cause
of the crash. Both Hill and Tower
were in the cockpit but officials
said they did not know which
pilot was at the controls.

They were trapped in the blazing craft and were rescued by Lieuts. R. K. Giovanni and L. F.
Harmon, who threw coats about
their heads to protect them from
the flames and dragged the fliers
from the wreckage.

The army accident inquiry
board, named by Brig. Gen. A. W.
Robins, and composed of Lieut.
Col. Lockland, Capt. J. M.
Gillespie, Lieut. Lawrence Craigie
and Capt. H. Z. Bogert, launched
an immediate investigation to de-

Of Newest Type

The huge bomber, newest type
of air fighting machine, had been undergoing tests at the field in preparation for the army's purchase of new aircraft, since it was flown here from Seattle last August.

In that flight the bomber
traversed the long distance without mishap, making record time of
well over 200 miles an hour.

It had been flown successfully
on numerous test flights during

HOG SHIPMENTS SHOW INCREASE

Three Decks of Hogs Shipped;
Prices Fair

Three double decks of hogs were shipped Tuesday afternoon by the Pickaway Livestock assn., the largest shipment of market hogs
during the city in one day during the last six months.

Market hogs have been unusually scarce in the county during the high price period. Prices on the hogs shipped Tuesday to Columbus and New York markets averaged from $9.15 to $9.37.

The price has been gradually falling the last two weeks, Farm Bureau officials reported.

PUMPKIN SHOW BOOSTS COUNTY TAX COLLECTION

Although sales tax collections in Ohio fell off almost $22,000 last week, Pickaway-co receipts were higher than usual, attributed to the Pumpkin show the week before. Collection in the county was $3,202.16 against $2,052.47. The total collection from Pickaway-co to date is $79,925.61.

Receipts in Ohio last week amounted to $921,556.26 making a total for the 39 weeks the levy has been in effect of $35,993,637.25.

COLD SPOILS BIG EVENT IN LIFE OF JOE S. SMITH

What was scheduled to be a
red letter day in the life of Joseph S. Smith, prominent Circleville-twp farmer, has
been spoiled by a severe cold.

Mr. Smith, who completed a business course at Notre Dame
in 1882, had a ticket for the Ohio State-Notre Dame game.
This game would have been
his first football game. He is believed to be one of the oldest alumnus of the university
in central Ohio.

Mr. Smith announced Wednesday morning he would be unable to attend and has presented his ticket to his son,
Paul.

C. E. Lemon.

The drive continues through November.

BACH NEW SECRETARY

Elliot Voll, local tailor, who has served as secretary of the C. A. C.
for the last 21 years, resigned the position Tuesday night.

Dewitt Bach, employee of the Second National bank, was appointed to serve the unexpired term of Mr. Voll. The election of officers is held in March.

CLEAR $400 ON DANCE

Proceeds of the C. A. C. dance during the Pumpkin show totaled exactly $400, the dance committee reported.

PRIZES TO CARRIERS

Circleville newsmen will have an opportunity to win three valuable prizes in a ticket selling campaign announced Wednesday morning by C. A. C. officials.

Tickets for the C. A. C. fair, to be held the week of Nov. 25, will be sold by the carriers. Prizes to be awarded for the highest sales include a bicycle, wrist watch and leather jacket.

Carriers are to meet in the
C. A. C. gymnasium at 7:30 p. m.
Friday for more details of the contest.

DENY INJUNCTION IN GUFFEY COAL BILL COURT FIGHT

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30—(INS)—
The government drew first blood
today in the Guffy coal test case
in District of Columbia supreme court when Justice Jesse Adkins
refused to grant an injunction restraining the national bituminous coal commission from enforcing the terms of the act, which sets up a "little NRA" for the soft coal industry, on the Carter Coal company, of West Virginia.

ATTORNEYS CLEARING WAY FOR HAUPTMANN'S APPEAL

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30—(INS)—
The last obstacle to the appeal
of Bruno Richard Hauptmann to
the Supreme court in an effort
to escape a death sentence in the Lindbergh kidnapping case was
removed today when Hauptmann's
counsel paid the cost of printing
the record.

Although Hauptmann's lawyers
a few days ago were reported to
be experiencing difficulties in raising the money, they succeeded in
obtaining approximately $200.

The record has been ordered
printed and Hauptmann's formal
petition is expected to be filed
soon.

may become regent and eventually king of Austria and occupy throne shown at right. He is now vice-chancellor and virtual dictator of the

Archduke Otto. (Central Press)

COLD WEATHER DUE TO STRIKE

as 26 Degrees Under Zero

A package of severe cold weather, sent from the northwest, is scheduled to arrive in Circleville by Thursday night sending the mercury down to the freezing point.
Temperatures as low as 26 below zero were reported in parts of Canada.

A cold fog centered over central Ohio Tuesday night obscuring
motorists' vision. During the night
several large flocks of wild geese,
flying low because of the fog,
honked their way southward over
the city.

Dr. H. R. Clarke, local weather
recorder, reported the high temperature Tuesday was 64 degrees
and the lowest during the night 48.
Rainfall in the 24 hours preceding
7 a. m. today was .06 of an inch.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 30—(INS)— Icy arctic blasts kept the temperature under 50 degrees today in northern California and at
zero in the Pacific northwest.

The icy gale sweeping down the Pacific coast from Alaska wrecked
three fishing boats off Victoria,
B. C., claiming the life of one fisherman.

The zero temperature at Seattle
was indirectly responsible for the death of Mrs. Mattie Flaherty, 76,
burned to death in her home.

Fire was attributed to an over-
heated stove.

A snowstorm of blizzard proportions halted automobile travel to
Mt. Hood, near Portland, Ore.

DRIVER, DRUNK, HURT IN WRECK

Sam Pontius' Car Tries to Move Elsea's Truck

Samuel Pontius, Kinderhook,
was fined $100 and costs and his driving rights suspended for six months Wednesday morning by Mayor W. B. Cady for driving
while intoxicated.

The fine was suspended and Pontius paid the $3.70 costs when
he informed the mayor he had six children to support.

Pontius was arrested by police
after his Studebaker sedan crashed into the Dodge truck of Asa Elsea, parked in front of his home
on Scioto-st. between Mound and Franklin-sts.

Pontius suffered a fractured
nose and severe body bruises when
he was thrown against the ster-
office of Dr. E. L. Montgomery.

The accident occurred about 11
p. m. The front end of the Studebaker and the bed of the truck
were badly damaged.

Patrolmen Green and Radcliff
investigated the crash.

FARMERS UNITE CONTESTING FOR ELECTRIC POWER

URBANA, Oct. 30—(INS)—In
an endeavor to solidify 1,250
farm signers or a REA application to finance Champaign-co
rural electrification co-operative program, embracing 310 miles of
distribution lines, farm officials
today called a mass meeting of signers to be held here tomorrow
night.

Call for the meeting resulted
after a vigorous fight for right-of-
way and easements between the
co-operative group and the Dayton
Power & Light Co. in Jackson-
twp. Farm officials said the Dayton utility had started construction
of rural electrification lines
through rich territory where landowners had signified intentions of
joining with co-operative farmers'
association.

FINED FOR DOG TAGS

John Mowery and Frank Smith,
both of Circleville, arranged to settle fines of $5 and costs each
Wednesday assessed by H. O.
Eveland, justice of peace, for failure to buy dog tags.

SOLONS RETURN, FACE DIFFICULT BUDGET CONTEST

Several Factions at Work Trying to Alter Plans of House
Budget Committee

INCREASES TO BE VOTED

Tax Program for 1936 Also
to Receive Attention in Special Session, Report

COLUMBUS, Oct. 30—The
snarled biennial appropriation bill
will be the first order of business
today when the General Assembly
resumes its special session.

Although the Assembly has been
out of session for over a month,
theoretically it has been absent
only for a five minute recess, and
therefore it can reconsider action
on the defeated transfer bill offered
by Gov. Martin L. Davey as the means of alleviating hardships
caused by his vetoes of $8,800,000
from the budgets.

If the House reconsiders the
transfer bill, the measure will
then be resubmitted to the finance committee. The latter in turn will offer immediately the amended
transfer bill, over which committee
members wrangled for three weeks.

Approves Increases

This measure, the result of a
compromise to "get something
done," calls for boosts in the budgets of $31,222,000 over the Governor's vetoes. Indignities are that barring further amendments,
the Democratic majority in the House would be inclined to pass
the bill and send it on to the Senate. The upper chamber does not meet until tonight.

However, numerous factions are
eager to revise the appropriation measure. One of these factions is backed by Ohio State university
alumni who assert that the proposed increase of $387,000 over the
vetoes in the OSU budget is insufficient. The governor slashed
approximately $1,250,000 from the university's appropriations. Another faction seeks to restore the $750,000 item vetoed by the governor and not restored by the Finance committee for retirement of
the state debt incurred for com-

OFFICE STUDIES, IN PREPARING FOR NEW SOCIAL ACT

James T. Shea, manager, and Miss Jane Mader of the local re-
employment office, were in Lancaster Tuesday attending a district NRS meeting, called to acquaint the branches with a new
statistical system.

This system, being introduced
into the service, is regarded as a
preparatory step in the operation
of the newly-enacted Social Security act.

The chief feature of the system
is a "perpetual inventory file" containing a card for each Ohioan
applying for work in NRS offices.
The file for Ohio will be maintained at Columbus and information
from it will be sent periodically to Washington authorities.

The meeting was in charge of
A. M. Howard, district manager.

FAIRBANKS, LANDI LINKED IN EUROPEAN ROMANCE

(INS)—Gossip centers of Hollywood buzzed today with news of
an overseas romance between
Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., and Elissa
Landi, who are making a picture
together in London.

The new interest, filmland hears,
has completely killed any chance
of a reconciliation between young
Fairbanks and Gertrude Lawrence,
English stage star, to whom he
was reported engaged soon after Joan Crawford divorced him and
he went abroad to live.

BAUM DITCH SUPERVISOR; NAMED BY COMMISSIONERS

Jesse Baum has been appointed by the county commissioners as
ditch supervisor for the improvement of the Hines county ditch in Walnut and Madison-twps. and the K. W. Peters county ditch in Walnut-twp. The ditches will be

VOTERS OF FIRST WARD WEST TO CHANGE BOOTH

Voters of the first ward
west precinct who have been casting their ballots at Stofer's store, W. Main-st., are to vote in the writing room of the American hotel.

Announcement of the change was made by Harry E.
Weill, deputy clerk of the board of elections, who arranged the transfer.

REPORT HITLER ASKS TO TRADE IN AFRICAN WAR

May Ask British to Return
After World War

By International News Service

Diplomatic activity aimed at
peace overshadowed the military movements in the Italo-Ethiopian
war today.

H. R. Knickerbocker reported
from Addis Ababa that Germany
was studying a "deal" by which
she would agree to co-operate in
application of economic sanctions
against Italy if Britain would return to her African colonies taken
after the World war. Paris heard
a similar report in which Britain
was pictured as bringing pressure
on Berlin to stop a potential leak
in the Anti-Italian economic siege.

While Sir Samuel Hoare, British foreign minister, was publicly
admitting in London that peace
talks were under way, it was learned in Paris that the new
"yard-stick" peace plan is based
on "co-operation" between Italy
and Ethiopia.

Meanwhile Italian columns on
the northern front pressed southward toward Makale, and a month-
old battle on the northwestern
front continued unabated. Fighting also was heavy along the Setit
river, on the northwestern front.

On the southern front Italian Dubat troops were reported to have captured a fort in a surprise
raid.

CONGRESS POLL IS FAVORING FDR

House Members Reply President Certain to Win

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30—(INS)—
Democratizing members of congress believe that President Roosevelt will sweep the nation in a campaign for reelection.

This was disclosed today by
members of the Democratic congressional campaign committee,
which made a survey of the president's popularity.

The survey, which was started
before congress ended, was designed to give accurate answers to the question of whether or not the president was favored for renomi-nation and whether he would be reelected.

Two hundred and twenty-five of
the 313 Democratic members of
the house have replied to the questionnaire of Chairman Drewery
(D) of Virginia.

A strong majority, members
said, reported that Mr. Roosevelt is popular with the rank and file
of the voters.

They concede that strong resentment has set in against the administrating among business men and professional groups. The
large majority, according to committee members, report that the
president will carry their districts
in the next election.

POLICE ARE LINKED WITH STEBENVILLE 'LEGGING

STEBENVILLE, Oct. 30—
(INS)—City officials today defended the police department as
federal authorities probed charges
police cruisers had been used to bootleg liquor, a new development
in the investigation of the mystery
death of L. S. Prevatt, deputy U. S.
Marshal slain by an unknown
gunman Monday.

Safety Director John Madigan
branded charges of bootlegging by policemen unfounded after he had
conducted a personal investigation, quizzing every member of the city law enforcement staff last
night.

70 Leaders Hear Three Speakers

Committees Meet at Country Club; Urged to Devote Election
Day to Party; Davey Praised By Speaker of House

Seventy of Pickaway-cos leading Democrats, executive and central committeemen, went about their pre-election duties today with new vigor as a result of a rousing
get-together meeting at the Pickaway Country club Tuesday evening.

They were urged first by Chairman George G. Adkins, then by Clerk of the House Fred Elsass, and lastly
and most enthusiastically, by Speaker of the House J.
Freder Bittinger. Those three were the only speakers but they wakened the rooster from a slumber that has continued since the last congressional, gubernatorial and presidential elections in pleas that they work toward election of Democrats
to the minor offices, municipality,
village and township, to "provide a
foundation upon which the state

Urged to Devote Day
Chairman Adkins urged all central committeemen to devote their
time next Tuesday to "being on
the ground" to do what they could
to elect their candidates.

Mr. Elsass, who comes from
Anna, Shelby-co, declared the

REPLACE POULSON?

Asked concerning veracity
of reports that he would soon
assume the leadership of the Democratic party in Ohio,
Speaker Bittinger declared:
"There is emphatically no
truth to any such report."
Francis Poulson is now
the Democratic chairman.

country is "getting back to its
fundamentals" as the result of the depression and that voters are
taking much more care in marking
their ballots. "When the country
was more prosperous, when there
was plenty of money, taxpayers
didn't care who was in office,
what taxes were of where money
went," he declared. "But now, as a result of the depression, they
are putting the men into office
whom they think will better serve
them."

The clerk of the House of Representatives paid tribute to Clark
K. Hunsicker, Pickaway-co's representative in the assembly, and termed him "safe, sound, and progressive."

Served With 3 Counties
Mr. Bittinger, introduced by
Mr. Hunsicker, the toastmaster, as
the principal speaker lauded the
last three representatives Picka-
way-co has had, Walter Marion,
Nathan Bohnert, and Mr. Hunsick-
er. He served with Mr. Marion
in the 88th General Assembly when
there were only 11 Democrats in the House and none in the Senate.

Mr. Bittinger made an urgent
plea that voters take an interest
in the minor office elections. "It is
true," he said, "there are no actual national and state issues in this election, but your at-home
elections establish the foundation
and groundwork with which our
state and national leaders must work. We cannot claim office because of errors our opponents have
made but we must go out and be
elected on our own records."

"There is a splendid example of
this case going on right now in
our own state," the speaker declared.

"While serving in office," he
continued, "we must serve the

MRS. RIFE INFORMED OF NEPHEW'S TRAGIC DEATH

Mrs. Mary Rife, Watt-st., has received word of the death of her nephew, G. W. Hall, 43, in Houston, Texas, last week when three gasoline cars of the Eastern States
Petroleum Co. refinery exploded.

He died of burns about the face and arms.

Mr. Hall was the fourth son of the late George M. Hall, also a grandson of Caleb Hall, also deceased. He leaves his widow, a daughter and four brothers.

The explosion was caused when gasoline came in contact with a tiny flame in a switchman's lantern. The blast was heard two miles and lighted the entire ship channel area at Houston. Loss was

FIRST CAGE CASUALTY

John Stuckey, son of Mr. and
Mrs. Dan Stuckey of Pickaway-
twp., a high school student at the Pickaway-twp. school, suffered a
practice at the school Tuesday afternoon.

Ferd M. Pickens

Pickens, district attorney for the Home Owners Loan corporation, former clerk of courts and a Circleville native, may be a congressman one of these days.
He has the "so-called" bee in his bonnet but believes right now is not the time to enter the race. His Home Owners Loan job may last indefinitely and it may not, that is the way things go. Pickens will not run against Mell G. Underwood, but any campaign he would enter would be with the New Lexington man's personal support. Though he now lives in Columbus, Pickens maintains his residence in Circleville because he is a federal employee.

BOYSEL BOUND TO GRAND JURY

Charged With Intent to Kill;
Swank Plaintiff

Harry Boyssel, 48, Darbyville, was bound to the grand jury Wednesday under $1,000 bond by H. O.
Eveland, justice of peace, on a charge of shooting with intent to kill.

He was unable to furnish bond.
The charge was filed against Boyssel by Alva Swank, also of Darbyville, who suffered two 22
calibre bullet wounds in a shooting

RADCLIFF FREES DRIVER OF AUTO IN BUS MISHAP

Following a complete investigation of the school bus-auto collision on Route 23, Tuesday morning,
Sheriff Charles Radcliff reported
no charges would be filed against
D. R. Martindill, 40, of McArthur, driver of the car.

Martindill and Abbott Silva, 50,
reported to the sheriff Tuesday
afternoon after keeping an appointment in Columbus. Both men
were severely bruised in the crash
and Silva suffered a laceration on
the forehead.

County officials considered the
accident unavoidable due to the

FIRST CAGE CASUALTY

John Stuckey, son of Mr. and
Mrs. Dan Stuckey of Pickaway-
twp., a high school student at the

M. Laval is reported to be looking for an "attractive peace plan." If he finds it, it should be the discovery of the age.

Republicans should do rather well if all the potential presidential candidates go to the polls and cast their ballots.

EX-JUDGE SLAIN IN SHOOTING

An ex-convict, Raymond Lamming (inset), whose diseased mind blamed the judge who first imposed a prison sentence upon him for the "ruin" of his life, shot and killed former Municipal Judge William R. Fetzler (above) of Chicago, the subject of his grievance; wounded two other men, one perhaps fatally, and then killed himself today.

The stream of able-bodied men waiting for doles is being transferred rapidly to payroll windows at WPA projects and at least 20,000 more will have been taken

The four-motored giant was to have been flown over the southwestern Ohio area today to test the new secret developments incorporated in its structure.

It was capable of a cruising speed of 270 miles an hour. The plane had a wing spread of 100 feet and was 70 feet in length. It was of all-metal construction and company officials claimed it would carry 15 1000-pound bombs in addition to the battery of machine guns in the turrets.

Fastest Bomber

Reports have it that ALDO RICCI resigned from the Mint With the Hole program because of an overdose of sponsoritis. The sponsor who last season supplied five hours of dance music on Saturday nights is seeking a new idea for airing. BETTY LOU GERSON replaces JUNE MEREDITH as the lead in the First Nighter programs beginning November 8. A deputy sheriff of Lancaster was recently called to Amadato investigate what was reported to be a one-man nudist camp. ## NEFF IN CONTEST FOR MAYOR POST IN MT. STERLING

C. M. Neff, probably Mt. Sterling's best known resident and several times mayor, is again in the mayoralty contest and has opened his campaign with the following "pre-election flash" as he terms it:

Fourteen years ago, I submitted the following letter to the people of Mt. Sterling, Ohio, which is self explanatory.

My Dear Voters and Citizens of Mt. Sterling, Ohio:

In as much as I have allowed myself to become a candidate for Mayor of our pleasant little village at the municipal election next Tuesday, November 5th, I am asking you if you desire me to assist in the management of our village affairs and keep our Home Town the best in Ohio, to kindly cast your vote in my favor, and if elected, I promise you to deal fairly and squarely with any and all issues that shall legally come before me.

Respectively yours,
At this time I wish to state that the same can be applied at the coming Election of the Chief Executive of one of the best, if not the best village in central Ohio.

Yours for the best ever,
C. M. NEFF

SENATOR WARNS OF EUROPE WAR

Donahey Warns Nation to Evade All Trouble

COLUMBUS, Oct. 30—(INS)—Sounding a warning that Europe thinks this country is easy prey, U. S. Sen. A. Vic Donahey (D) of Ohio, today declared that the declaration of Congress for strict neutrality "must be maintained at whatever cost, without reservation, without compromise, without any if-and-when interpretations."

"The greatest need of the United States at the present time is to remain absolutely neutral in the European controversy," counseled Ohio's junior senator.

"The old world is engaged again in its historic game of jockeying for advantages, position and power. That is none of our business."

"In the minds of the old powers we are easy prey, and Europe will try to put us on the spot, but we should refuse to budge. While fever is running high, members of congress had better stay away from Europe, and devote their voices and energies to the welfare of their own country. We face far more danger from within than from without in this crisis."

"I am making this statement to the people of Ohio because, in the first place, I want them to know how I feel about it and, in the second place, I hope they will not get excited but keep cool and practice strict neutrality in their thought, words and action, leaving the outside world to fight out its own political differences as it sees fit."

Who'll be the First November Baby?

A group of Circleville's progressive merchants have joined together to do honor to the fortunate boy or girl who is the first to be born in November in Circleville. Under the plan adopted these merchants will extend their congratulations in the substantial form of gifts to the First Baby of November and its parents. The gifts will be given to the first boy or girl to be born after midnight, October 31, 1935, this baby to be declared November's First Baby.

To qualify a baby its birth should be reported immediately to The Herald by telephone or in person, giving the name and address of the parents, with the exact hour and minute of birth and the name of the attending physician. Parents of the First Born must reside in the corporation limits of Circleville.

As soon as possible the parents of the first born will call at this office and receive from the Baby of The Month Editor a certificate which will entitle them to the gifts and prizes the cooperating merchants are giving away.

INDIAN SUMMER?

WE WILL not be so rash as to hazard the belief that we are now in the midst of Indian summer. The time of the arrival of this brief season of warm, hazy, autumnal weather has long been involved in controversy and every definite statement that it has appeared, regardless of the time, is challenged by those who pretend to greater knowledge of the subject than the Indians themselves possessed.

The New England tribes believed this summer to be caused by a wind blowing from their great god of the Southwest, who sent them their maize, beans and other blessings and cared for the souls of their dead. But they never expected the season's advent at any definite time. They waited patiently and, when it came, often after heavy frosts or snow flurries, they welcomed it.

We should at least be as philosophical in the matter as they and should refrain from quibbling over the question of whether Indian summer has come and gone, whether it is here at present or is still on its way. Quite possibly we are even now enjoying its delights of warmth and haze and radiant beauty on every hillside and in the valleys and even along the tree-lined city streets. But whether this is Indian summer or something else again is unimportant so long as its appeal remains undiminished.

RULE BY A WAR LORD

THERE are many objections to the new scheme of national life proposed by General Ludendorff for adoption in Germany, one of which seals its doom. It provides no place for Adolf Hitler.

And for even more important reasons it is a plan which never should reach fulfillment. The unalloyed delights of life in Germany even under the present order are questionable. Under the regime proposed by Ludendorff, life would indeed be a dismal business.

Haste, not speed, has been cited as a cause of most motor accidents. It is all right, then, to go fast but not if you're in a hurry.

WORLD AT A GLANCE

President Roosevelt, speaking at Charleston just after landing from his recent ocean holiday, paid a high tribute to Senator James F. Byrnes' loyal and efficient services to the administration.

It was natural in the president to praise Byrnes, a South Carolina senator, before a South Carolina audience, rather than to speak of the loyalty and efficiency of Senator Joseph T. Robinson of Arkansas or Senator Joseph F. Guffey of Pennsylvania, who are of no particular interest to Carolinians. It struck many politicians as odd, however, that he omitted saying a good word also for Senator D. Smith, who is as much a South Carolinian as is Byrnes.

BYRNES UP FOR RE-ELECTION

There is the possible explanation that the White House tenant considered Byrnes more in need of ballyhooing than Smith at this special juncture: Byrnes is up for renomination and re-election next year, whereas Smith will not be a candidate until 1938.

Such reasoning might have accounted for a louder pedaling of Byrnes than Smith.

But the presidential whooping it up for Byrnes, while ignoring Smith altogether, was distinctly noticeable.

The truth is that New Deal strategists don't classify Smith as a New Dealer. They don't want a Republican in his place (a ridiculous idea in South Carolina, anyway) but certainly they wouldn't mind seeing him beaten for 1938's Democratic renomination.

BYRNES A DEFT "FIXER"

Byrnes is well known as an extraordinarily deft pro-administration "fixer". He undoubtedly is as valuable on Capitol Hill, to the executive mansion, as Senator Robinson or Senator Pat P. Ison of Mississippi, both of whom are "under the gun" for 1936 renominations (subsequent re-elections assured, of course). With Huey P. Long gone, as a probable campaigner against them, both are accepted as certainties.

Senators Lewis of Illinois, Bankhead of Alabama, Coston of Colorado, Logan of Kentucky, Russell of Georgia, Sheppard of Texas, Neely of West Virginia, Bulow of South Dakota and Hatch of New Mexico all are next year's candidates and all are "persona grata" to the New Dealers.

The administration especially is interested in Russell, because the bitter anti-New Dealer, Governor Eugene Talmadge, is his prospective opponent for Georgia's Democratic senatorial nomination, with a 100 per cent assurance of election if he gets it.

Senators Glass of Virginia, Bailey of North Carolina, Gore of Oklahoma and Coolidge of Massachusetts, rate as anti-New Deal Democrats. If renominated, New Dealers would not wish any of them to be beaten by Republicans, but they would shed no tears over a few defeats in the primaries. They would give anything to beat Glass, for example, but know there isn't a chance of it.

BRITISH AND ITALIAN PUBLIC NOW SOLIDLY BEHIND THEIR LEADERS

WASHINGTON—The picture of the international situation placed before the President immediately after his return to the White House was not as clear as it might have been.

But out of the maze of reports cabled to the State Department or received verbally from diplomats returned from Europe, the following points stood out:

1. Italy is virtually 100 per cent behind Mussolini.

The original inertia of the working classes, the positive antipathy of the intellectuals, and the lukewarm enthusiasm of the General Staff now have been replaced by strong support. Some opposition may lurk beneath the surface, but it is negligible. And it will take either a major defeat or a protracted war to turn public sentiment against Il Duce.

2. British public opinion has reached a pitch akin to religious fervor in its demand that the League prevent war.

As one high British diplomat put it, the people of England have substituted love of peace for love of the church. Peace has become a religion. They are willing to go to any lengths—even war—to back it up.

This feeling probably represents seventy to eighty per cent of the country. The rest, chiefly Tories, are equally behind the League, though for an entirely different reason. They fear an Italian Empire near the Red Sea life-line of the British Empire.

3. France will NOT support the British if it comes to a showdown against Italy.

According to the report given Roosevelt, France is as anxious to keep out of war as the United States. Every morning posters smeared over the walls of Paris proclaim: "No troops shall be moved to support the League."

For Premier Laval to take a strong stand against Italy would mean his immediate downfall.

FARLEY MEMORY

A few days later, Miss Roche received a copy of their photograph in the mail, inscribed in Jim's favorite green ink with the following: "Thought you would like to have this souvenir of the occasion."

IT WAS ONLY a little after seven when Carol let herself into her own apartment. The night was bitter cold and she built a blazing fire in the hearth into which she cast the letters and papers she took from her desk. Her valuable papers placed in an old-fashioned box and put into the suitcase—the big one—that was open on her bed. When she had finished, the desk was bare.

Then the real work began. She packed her silver—most of it she had taken from her old home and it was priceless. That she would take to her own bank the next day.

Her clothes came next. With regrets, she packed every pretty frock and hat she had enjoyed buying so much. No matter, she would have others just as pretty and in a little while she could wear these again. The trunk was full to brimming and she slammed it shut. That would be sent to storage on the morrow.

China and linens came next. She packed them away neatly and safely and dragged out the summer covers that had covered her pretty furniture.

It was 10 when she had finished and the apartment looked cold and impersonal. Carol stifled the sigh that rose when she surveyed it. She had loved it so as it was. But this was not the time to turn back. Resolutely she rang the superintendent's bell and when he came she said:

"Mr. Neary, I am leaving for the south quite unexpectedly. I don't know how long I shall be gone. I'll mail my check to the office to take care of the rent. I'm keeping the apartment, you see, and I shall trust you to take care of it for me, to save my mail..."

"Would you like me to send it to you?" Mr. Neary inquired, bubbling with aid, since a generous bill had passed into his hand.

"No," Carol said hastily. "My... my important mail will be... that is I'll leave my address but... I won't leave it here since I will be... I'll be motoring through the south. You just keep it for me and I'll let you know when I am returning."

And now that the physical work was over, Carol sat down to face the other problems that must be settled before she could entirely disappear.

Midnight chimed before she had finished writing the notes to her close friends telling them she was taking a motor trip across the country with an old school friend. There was an elaborate one to Gary, telling him she was leaving in a few days.

Meanwhile, in another part of town, a strange looking person approached the desk in a shabby theatrical hotel off Broadway and asked for a room. She was a type not unknown at that hotel, probably an old character actress still trying to play younger roles. Bright spots of rouge tinted her old cheeks. Vermilion stained her lips. A youthful hat sat giddily on her frizzed gray hair and her blue suit was much too young for her for all that it was of good quality.

The clerk looked at her pityingly as she trotted off to the elevator with her shabby little old-fashioned bag and thought of the pretty young things headed in the same direction when Broadway had forgotten them.

If he had pity but not admiration for Miss Josephine Delacourt, Miss Josephine Delacourt had immense admiration for herself as she studied her handiwork in the grimy mirror of the hotel bedroom. The name was a fine touch she thought as she removed the rouge and greasy lipstick.

The high heels of her borrowed shoes had tired her and she slipped them off. The blue hat and suit followed and she lay down in her old-fashioned cotton slip. For there was nothing in the little bag save two bath towels which would never be missed. Miss Miranda had thought carefully in her plans for flight.

Would she be safe in that hotel? She thought it the most unlikely place in the world that a search would be made for her and she hoped—with hard-beating heart—that the clerk would never identify the cheap, old, painted thing as the missing Miss Van Cleve. Miss Van Cleve was very, very glad she had read so many modern novels and seen so many movies. She was beginning to enjoy herself. If the rest of her flight was to prove as much fun, she thought the whole pattern of her life would be changed. She shut out the terrible thought of what discovery would mean. Even David would never believe in her.

She fell asleep to a dream of herself explaining to David that she had found the fountain of youth.

The next morning Carol bought all the papers. She scanned them from cover to cover but not a line did she see of what she sought. How could that be? She had expected to see it blazoned all over the headlines. Perhaps they had not been discovered. They? No, the Van Cleves would not suspect that Carol had anything to do with it. At least she hoped they wouldn't.

She dared not leave her apartment that day; there was a reason why she must stay there. There was the message she was waiting for!

At noon, her bell rang. Obeying a sudden impulse, she put the suitcase in her bedroom and closed the door, flung up the top of the empty desk and pulled off the summer cover before she answered. She didn't want the apartment to look as though its owner might be going away.

Fear rose swiftly when she found a blue-coated officer standing at the door.

"Miss Kennedy?" the officer asked. "I am Miss Kennedy," Carol said.

and there was exactly the right shade of polite surprise in her voice that any girl would have finding a policeman on her threshold.

"You the nurse who attended Miss Miranda Van Cleve?"

"I am," she said quietly, and then with a trace of concern: "Is there anything wrong, officer?"

"That there is," he replied. "Would you have any idea where she would be?"

"Why, of course," Carol laughed one very little how-silly-of-you-sort of laugh. "Miss Van Cleve would be at her residence. She was ill when I was dismissed, and a trained nurse was in attendance."

"Yeah, I know all that, but she ain't there. This lady has disappeared." Carol made as though she couldn't believe him.

"Oh, officer, how could she? Where could she have gone?"

"That's what I came to find out. The family thought she might have talked to you about friends or something like that. You might be able to give us a clue. Now let's talk this over."

"Certainly, officer, won't you come in?" Carol put no over confidence in her invitation to know about the rich note again. "I'll be glad to tell you all I know. Miss Van Cleve has another nephew but he... she had just heard of his death. That was why she was taken suddenly ill."

"Yeah, they sort of said she wasn't all there. She disappeared some time between 10 o'clock and midnight. If you ask me, she'll turn up in the morgue. An old lady like that can't disappear on a cold night like last night and stay missing."

"Oh, I hope not. I hope they will find her." Concern shook Carol's voice. "She is so helpless and so am I because I know of nothing that would help you."

"She'll turn up today. The family don't want the papers to know about it yet and they asked me to tell you the same. If you hear of anything, call headquarters, will you?"

"I will, officer, indeed I will. Can I offer you some coffee? I was just getting my lunch."

"No, thank you, I've got to be getting along. Sure you don't know anything?"

The telephone rang out with a shrill ring but Carol made no move to answer it. She pretended utter deafness as she smiled at the policeman who took endless time to make his departure.

The phone was still ringing when Carol closed the door behind him. She ran to the bedroom, lifted the receiver from its hook and when she heard the voice at the other end she whispered:

"Wait!"

Poems That Live

"MY HEART'S IN THE HIGHLANDS"

My heart's in the Highlands, my heart is not here;
My heart's in the Highlands a-chasing the deer;
A-chasing the wild deer, and following the roe—
My heart's in the Highlands wherever I go.

Farewell to the Highlands, farewell to the North,
The birthplace of valor, the country of worth;
Wherever I wander, wherever I rove
The hills of the Highlands forever I love.

Farewell to the mountains high covered with snow;
Farewell to the straths and green valleys below;
Farewell to the forests and wild-hanging woods;
Farewell to the torrents and loud-pouring floods.

My heart's in the Highlands, my heart is not here;
My heart's in the Highlands a-chasing the deer,
A-chasing the wild deer, and following the roe—

DIET AND HEALTH

Tularemia Is a Disease Often Acquired by Hunters

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

ABOUT THIS time of year, the doctors in the small towns in the neighborhood of good hunting districts may expect to have a patient

or two come to them to see about a peculiar sore on one of his fingers or the back of the hand. The story is that this ulcer has been there a week or more, and does not seem to want to heal and the part that really worries the patient is that the lymph nodes of the neck are swollen up and are red and painful.

For the disease is tularemia, one of those transmitted directly from animals to man. It is very common in rabbits all over the country, and is also found in squirrel and quail. The germ is killed by cooking, so there is no danger in eating the flesh of the infected animals. But the germ easily enters the system through small cuts (or even the intact skin) when the fresh blood of the animal is touched, as in skinning or dressing.

Prevention Easy

Prevention is easy and consists in wearing rubber gloves while dressing wild game. It is an occupational disease in that butchers and hunters are the regular recipients. The form I have just described is the usual one. Sometimes the glands swell up without any apparent portal of entry on the skin, but this is usually because the little sore has healed up without being noticed. Another form affects the eyes producing a superficial ulceration, and, in fact, some of the first cases were discovered by an oculist in Arizona. The infection is conveyed to the eye by rubbing the eye with infected fingers.

It is worth noting that a general practitioner, Dr. R. A. Pearce of Brigham City, Utah, reported cases of this kind from the bite of the deerfly as early as 1910. In fact, when I first heard the disease described, the speaker began by saying, "Here is a new disease, fathered by a general practitioner, mothered by an oculist, and delivered by a U. S. public health laboratory worker."

Tularemia in man is not serious in most instances, recovery being the rule in the vast majority of instances. But the disability is sufficiently uncomfortable and time-consuming to warrant observance of the method of prevention advocated above.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Six pamphlets by Dr. Clendening can now be obtained by sending 10 cents in coin, for each, and a self-addressed envelope stamped with a three-cent stamp to Dr. Logan Clendening, in care of this paper. The pamphlets are: "Indigestion and Constipation," "Reducing and Gaining," "Infant Feeding," "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes," "Feminine Hygiene" and "The Care of the Hair and Skin."

AN UNUSUAL HAND

FEW PLAYERS realize how rare an event a 7-6-0-0 division of a hand really is. The odds against a particular player holding such a hand are 19,813 to 1. Unless partner is trickless, and the two long suits lack high honors, one suit or the other should be worth at least game. Such one-sided strength often is both difficult to bid correctly and hard to play to best advantage. North and South did well with their holdings.

Bidding went: South, 2-Hearts; North, 3-Diamonds, thereby showing at least one quick trick, as otherwise he would have bid 2-No Trumps, then shown his long suits later on, to avoid being put into a slam contract. South, 3-Hearts, as the opening force demanded keeping bidding alive until game has been bid; North, 4-Clubs; South, 4-Spades, showing a second suit, evidently considerably shorter than hearts, as the lower ranking suit had been rebid before showing the spades; North, 5-Diamonds, to show greater length than in clubs, and at the same time evincing a willingness, to be put into a slam if South deemed it best; South, 5-Diamonds, which West doubled, expecting to win a trump trick and a trick in one of the major suits.

The opening lead was the 3 of spades. South's Ace won and declarer let go his lowest club. The trick was the only chance, for fulfillment of contract appeared to be establishment of dummy's long heart suit. Declarer led and ruffed dummy's lowest heart. Dummy was put in lead with its Ace of diamonds. Declarer ruffed another small heart.

Declarer led off his K of trump, then he gave West a trump trick, clearing up that suit, but leaving declarer with only 2 trumps, one of which he had to use to ruff the return lead of a low spade. At the eighth trick dummy was put in the lead with its lone Ace of clubs. The Ace and K of hearts were led. On them North discarded his 6 and 9 of clubs. Luckily for declarer, the hearts broke, and both his K and J of clubs could have been discarded upon the two long hearts in dummy, but he chose to win the twelfth and thirteenth tricks by trumping a low heart, then playing his good K of clubs. You often will note that declarer seems as if he wanted to win his many tricks as possible in his own hand, perhaps to avoid an insinuation that dummy alone enabled him to fulfill his contract. In any event, North fulfilled his small slam contract

Picks Ohio State to Beat Notre Dame

By HARRY KIPKE
Football Coach, University of Michigan

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Oct. 30.—Some more of the big fellows will be topling from the gridiron heights by the time Saturday evening rolls around. There will be some surprises, of course—too many have occurred already to suit those who take their reputations by the nape of the neck and try to dope out what is going to happen each week—and some of the teams which we may expect to fade out of the picture will be sticking up there, looking for more big shots to dump over.

Out here in the mid-west there aren't a whole lot of teams remaining in the "undefeated" class, but the outfits still in that category are pretty good football teams. There are Minnesota and Ohio State and Marquette and Iowa and Notre Dame, for instance. They're pretty tough customers. They will all be in action this coming Saturday and some things are going to happen.

Championship Team
There's just one game in which two of these big fellows hang up against each other. In all the other battles the "aristocrats" of football will be taking on teams which have already tasted disaster. But sometimes, you know, these

FOOTBALL FANS SPEND QUARTER MILLION, CLAIM

All Hotel Rooms Sold, 18 Special Trains to Pull in for Football Game

COLUMBUS, Oct. 30.—(INS)—The football-mad Capital City today pushed elaborate plans for the Ohio State-Notre Dame game which is expected to bring a week-end of prosperity to Columbus business establishments with conservative estimates that approximately $1,000,000 will be spent here by the $8,000 or more fans who will see the game.

Practically every hotel in the city was reported as a "complete sellout," lodging houses and clubs in the university and outlying districts reported their quarters allocated for over the week-end; fraternity and sorority houses were providing additional room to attempt to care for numerous visiting chapter members.

The downtown hotels, with a capacity of 4,000 rooms, said that all quarters had been reserved for the week-end about two weeks ago. The two leading downtown hosteleries reported they were preparing to feed approximately 40,000 persons from Friday to Sunday. Reservations indicated persons from all parts of the country would attend the game.

Meanwhile, railroad attaches at the Union Station here said 18 special trains were scheduled to arrive at the terminal with three special routes direct to the stadium grounds.

Of the $8,000 expected to witness the game, university and chamber of commerce officials estimated that approximately 50,000 would be visitors here.

Three days before the battle, with the regular ticket sale closed, "scalpers" invaded the downtown and university areas and were demanding prices which resembled America's war debt figures.

Conflicting reports estimated the "scalping" ticket average from $15 a seat to $25. Despite amazing tales concerning the prices which "scalpers" were demanding and getting for tickets, the writer failed to see any actual transactions to make the reports authentic.

To Total $275,000
Considering the activities of "scalpers," and the prices paid to the university for seats, the entire ticket sales in all phases, probably will reach the $275,000 mark.

Meanwhile, at the university student leaders pushed arrangements for a gigantic rally Friday night which is expected to attract some 35,000 Scarlet rosters. The figure for the anticipated gathering at the rally was considered very conservative considering that 25,000 rosters appeared at last year's Ohio-Michigan rally, the night before the game.

While pre-rally preparations were in full blast, Coach Francis Schmidt continued driving his gridders. The Buckeyes were handed a lengthy offensive drill combined with some defensive studies.

Karcher May Start

All of the Ohio warriors were reported in good playing condition with the exception of Jim Karcher, senior guard, who is nursing a bruised shoulder sustained in the Northwestern game. Karcher's status as a starter against Notre Dame is still questionable.

The Buckeyes will meet the Irish equipped with an offense full of new formations which they did not employ in their four previous games.

eleven which have been defeated come back and raise the very dickens with an over-confident squad which has been sailing along easily on the victory road.

The big tussle, of course, is the fracas down at Columbus, O., where the so-called Scarlet Scourge is entertaining the Ramblers of Notre Dame. More than 90,000 wild-eyed rooters have decided that it is going to be a ball game, and you know 90,000 paying customers can't be wrong. And they aren't. It's going to be one great gridiron battle.

Neither team has been beaten. The rabid fans down in Ohio have

CINCINNATI

JOE WHALEN
OHIO WESLEYAN SIGNAL CALLER

Cincinnati's great unscored-upon eleven will meet Ohio Wesleyan in a Buckeye conference football game—Saturday at Delaware in a tussle that ranks second in the state that day only to the Notre Dame-Ohio State clash.

Cincinnati won from the Bishops last year, 13 to 6, and in 1933 also won, 7 to 0.

The Bearcats will be led by Linus Hady, Compton, Calif., quarterback, while the Bishops' signal caller will be Joe Whalen, Cleveland halfback, both of whom are shown above.

ARONSON PLANS WINTER FIGHTS

To Stage First in Armory Next Week; Hoster Feature

The Twentieth Century Sportsman's club headed by Norman Aronson, today disclosed plans for a boxing card in the Armory Thursday, Nov. 7. Cards will be held regularly during the winter, Aronson announced.

The feature of the first card will be Jackie Hoster, Columbus, lightweight, who is already on a contract. Hoster's opponent has not yet been named but he will be a worthy foe.

BOBCATS, MIAMI TANGLE IN IMPORTANT BAA FRAY

ATHENS, Oct. 30.—Undefeated and untied the Ohio University Bobcats will have as their guests in Ohio stadium Saturday one of their oldest and keenest rivals in the Miami Redskins.

Miami, along with all of Ohio's other opponents, has never been able to defeat the Bobcats in Ohio Stadium and they won't enter it with the odds in their favor this week-end. However there is too much reputation at stake to give either of these two teams much odds on their past records.

It was in 1932 that one of Ohio's finest leaders, fresh from a victory over the Navy at Annapolis, lost the Buckeye crown to the Bobcats had held for three years to the Redskins in one of the biggest upsets in the history of the Buckeye Conference. The score that afternoon at Oxford was 16-0 and the sting still lingers with Coach Don Peden.

LOUIS VERSUS RETZLAFF?

CHICAGO, Oct. 30.—(INS)—Joe Louis, the negro heavyweight sensation, will fight an as yet unnamed opponent in Chicago in January, Mike Jacobs, head of the Twentieth Century sporting club, announced here today. He said Joe's opponent would probably be Charlie Retzlaff, Duluth heavyweight.

been talking about national championship. The Notre Dame rosters weren't quite so optimistic as that at the beginning of the season, but they have been gathering momentum as Layden's boys have whooped along through their opponents until now the South Bend folk vision a sure return to the halcyon days of Rockne and his great eleven.

Ohio State is of championship caliber. There's no question about that. The squad is large. The veterans are numerous and capable. Some of the youngsters are brilliant. The team lost just one game last year and just one the year before. Those two losses were disastrous so far as title claims were concerned. They want no more of the same in Columbus. They know they must "win 'em all" if they are to be rated where they believe they belong. This Notre Dame outfit, so they figure, is the one big possible stumbling block. The remainder of the Buckeye schedule doesn't look dangerous to them from their present angle.

So it is a win they're figuring on and I am inclined to think they have it doped out about right. Notre Dame has a lot of stuff—a whale of a lot—but not quite enough to match the kind of football that is due to be thrown at them.

STINCHCOMB SAYS BUCKS BETTER THAN YEARS AGO

COLUMBUS, Oct. 30.—(INS)—A grid campaigner of the days when Ohio State was one of the nation's truly great teams, Pete Stinchcomb, All-American halfback in 1920, swallowed his pride today and admitted that the Buckeyes of 1935 "are far superior to our great teams."

Stinchcomb, who paired with the immortal Chic Harley to trample under foot some of America's greatest eleven backs in 1917 and 1919, grinned broadly as he contemplated a victory for his alma mater over the Green Ramblers of Notre Dame here Saturday.

"Why!" he declared, "these Ohio State boys this year could have whipped the tar out of us."

Stinchcomb offered no alibi anent the improvements in coaching, changes in the game and year-around training of present day athletes.

"They're just naturally good," he continued. "That Ohio line would have slapped us down in our tracks before we could have had time to get under way."

LAYDEN DRILLS IRISH AGAINST STATE PLAYS

NOTRE DAME, Ind., Oct. 30.—(INS)—Elmer Layden was in anything but a cheery mood today as he contemplated Notre Dame's engagement with Ohio State at Columbus Saturday.

"We won't have a chance to work on our own offense this week," he said. "We could spend all season setting up a defense for the numerous Ohio State runs from its many formations. The Buckeyes use more formations than any other team on our schedule and we'll just have to concentrate on keeping the score down."

BOSTON COACH QUILTS

NEWTON, Mass., Oct. 30.—(INS)—John R. "Dinny" McNamara today was forced to resign as head coach at Boston college because of ill health.

His assistant, Harry Downes, former Eagle center, was expected to be named his successor.

Less than two weeks ago McNamara guided the Maroon and Gold to an 18 to 6 victory over Michigan State, one of the biggest upsets of the season.

Urges All-Star Game

Pop Warner

A challenge to professional football for a game with a collegiate All-American team some time before the 1936 football season gets under way has been issued by Glenn "Pop" Warner, venerable coach of the Temple university team. If the game is played, it will be the first time an All-American team has been pitted against the pros.

About This And That In Many Sports

TIGERS TO DRAW, TOO

Practically the only thing football fans are interested in is the Ohio State-Notre Dame game on Saturday—True, there is a game at the high school against Marysville and it'll draw a crowd especially since the Tiger's haven't played at home for three weeks, but the keenest interest ever seen in central Ohio is manifest in the Buck-Irish game ***

BUCKS BY TOUCHDOWN

Harry Kipke of Michigan, who has been picking them good and bad this year, favors Ohio; he has to do that since he, too, is in the Big Ten, so his prediction doesn't mean so much—How Lew Byrer, Citizen big shot, can go out on a limb for Ohio 30 to 0 is beyond us—We do believe there will be 30 points scored in the game but they'll be split up—We still like the Bucks by a touchdown but hope it'll be more than that ***

NORTHERN RADCLIFF'S

They really go for William Radcliffe's at Ohio Northern—Bill, the attorney who is a candidate for mayor of Williamsport, went to the Ada school a while back; (how far?)—Now there is a Will Radcliffe of Piqua, weighing 197 pounds and the hope of the Northern Polar Bears on the gridiron—Radcliffe is a sophomore footballer—The Ada crew meets Detroit Tech Saturday ***

RATE STATE FIRST

A weekly rating system has Ohio State, No. 1; U. C. L. A. No. 2; Notre Dame, 3; Minnesota, 4; Stanford, 5; Pennsylvania, 6; Washington, 7; Army, 8; Pitt, 9; Marquette, 10; Southern Methodist, 11; Alabama, 12; Princeton, 13; California 14; Iowa, 15.

PROSPECTIVE HOME OR INVESTMENT BUYERS

Many of you have experienced the drudgery and the poor equipped farms, and have deprived yourself and your families of the luxuries and comforts of life, in order to create a savings, whereby someday you might have an opportunity to buy a farm with a modern home, that offers all the comforts and conveniences of the most luxurious city apartment.

What a feeling of satisfaction and pride that must be yours when you have reached the point where this can be accomplished. But remember, even though your highest ambitions in life have been realized, you will still be living in the same old rut if you do not act at once, and make this investment before land prices have advanced beyond your purchasing power.

I am offering to you this week, the farm of your dreams, a perfect little place, and should you choose to invest your savings in these premises you will be the holder of one of the choicest securities the world has to offer.

I submit for your consideration, this beautiful farm home located on federal route, on lands that are second to none in value, in the very heart of the belt almost without stones throw of church, schools, live stock and grain markets, with extra good fences, thoroughly tiled, barns, garage, outbuildings of all sorts, that are in keeping with premises of this kind.

The residence—a new modern and unusually attractive wire cut brick, six room bungalow, possessing every feature that adds to the comforts of a home, including electrical equipment of all kind, very best hot air furnace that money can buy, pressure tanks forcing both kinds of water into kitchen and bath room, elaborately built-in cupboards in kitchen, large modern sink and drain boards, electric refrigerator, electric range, a built-in china closet in dining room that is within itself a work of art, open fire place in large living room, open stairway leading to den on second floor, and hardwood floors throughout of the very best quality. A strictly modern bath room with fixtures of very latest design.

What a farm. What a home, what a location. The price, neither high nor low, just a fair market price considering what I have to offer, no repairs, no improvements to be made. Move in and start taking in the money.

Terms Cash or will make you a loan for any reasonable amount providing security is satisfactory. Possession in thirty days if desired. No. of acres 125.

STAGE SET FOR ANNUAL HALLOWEEN PARADE

MAYOR FAVORS CLEAN FUN FOR CITY THURSDAY

The clown's millenium comes Thursday night. Ghosts, skeletons and the other grotesque characters of Halloween will parade the streets and attend social events and home parties arranged for the celebration. Faces done in oil will be in vogue. Residents have been warned by the police department to place all movable flora and fauna out of the reach of pranksters. Clean fun will be permitted but Mayor Cady has issued a warning anyone destroying property will be haled into court. The parade, sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce, will be held at 8 p. m. It will form at Court and Mound-sts. The line of march follows: north on Court to High; west on High to Scioto; south on Scioto to Main; east on Main to Pickaway; south on Pickaway to Franklin; west on Franklin to Court, and countermarch on Court to Union. The judges will be stationed at the courthouse. Committeemen last night voted not to hold a dance after the parade. This money will be used for the purchase of red fire for the pageant. The Circleville high school bands and American Legion drum corps will furnish the music and all organizations plan to appear in costume. H. L. Steinhauser is general chairman of the event and Frank Lynch will be parade marshal.

HIGH JUDGE UPHOLDS TOBACCO ROAD SHOW

CHICAGO, Oct. 30.—(INS)—The cast of "Tobacco Road", will tread the boards once again here tonight. Producers of the play, closed as "Obscene and Filthy," by Mayor Edward J. Kelly, Oct. 21, won a complete victory over the city in federal court here yesterday. Judge William A. Holly overruled a motion of the city for dissolution of the temporary restraining order prohibiting city officials from interfering with presentation of the play.

SCHOOL HELD ALL OVER KINGSTON; BUILDING ON

School is held all over Kingston these days. If Johnnie's in the first grade he goes to the Presbyterian church. If Mary's in the fifth or sixth grade she goes to the old Eastern Star lodge room. Work has been started on razing the old grade school as a federal project and classes are held where rooms are available. Material from the old building will be used for the construction of a new four-room grade school. The second grade is holding classes in the Men's brotherhood room of the Methodist church. The third and fourth grades are occupying the M. E. church school rooms.

NEW PASTOR TAKES OVER AFRICAN METHODIST JOB

Mrs. Mary Lou Henderson, pastor at Frankfort Bethel A. M. E. church for the past four years, has replaced Rev. L. W. Williams of the local A. M. E. church, having been assigned here by the church conference. Rev. Williams has gone to Columbus Fourth church. Mrs. Henderson gained considerable recognition by her activities in the Frankfort church, building it to a record high and already has started plans to re-build the local church. Special services are being held this week with the Harmony Four quartet of Columbus assisting in the program. By the way, who is the present king of Louisiana?

people in such a manner that we recommend ourselves for more service."

Greeting From Governor

He expressed a personal felicitation from the governor who, he said, was sorry he could not also attend the meeting. "Mr. Davey," he told the committeemen, "depends on Pickaway-co and upon Mr. Hunsicker for support."

Mr. Bittinger traced the fight of the Republican party with the Constitution as the basis of its efforts. He recited that 40 laws declared unconstitutional by the Supreme court only 10 had been passed by a congress controlled by Democrats.

"The Republicans," he stated, "poured millions of dollars into banks and railroads for recovery knowing that it would eventually end up in the hands of a few. President Roosevelt believes that recovery can only be made by giving the money to the people themselves and not to the few. This is one of the fundamental differences between Republicans and Democrats."

Praises School Bill

He praised the school foundation program supported by the governor as one of the finest in the Union. "It provides every child in Ohio its birthright, a common school education," Mr. Bittinger said.

He discussed the 5-mill reduction in real estate taxes and declared he expects another such action to reduce the limitation. He spoke briefly of the reduction in the appropriation for Ohio State university, and went to say that if the legislature follows the lead of the governor the greatest conservation program in history will be written into Ohio law.

In closing his address, Mr. Bittinger said: "Franklin D. Roosevelt and Martin L. Davey will go down in history as the greatest humanitarians of all time."

Urged to Buy Ohioan

Mr. Adkins at the close of Mr. Bittinger's talk scored two Columbus and a Toledo newspaper for their attacks on the governor. He urged the committeemen to buy The Ohioan, official organ of the state Democratic committee, to counteract the adverse publicity given the administration in many papers. Sample copies of The Ohioan were passed among the members.

Prior to the speaking program, Tom E. Wilson, publisher of The Herald, and Ferd M. Pickens, attorney for the HOLC district in Columbus, were presented by Mr. Hunsicker.

The entire program followed a fine dinner.

Mr. Lewis Douglas, ex-director of the budget, has discovered what he terms "deception" in the revised budget of the president. It is what many a backfield coach would currently give his eyeteeth for.

SOLONS RETURN, FACE DIFFICULT BUDGET CONTEST

Several Factions at Work Trying to Alter Plans of House Budget Committee

Continued from Page One petition of the new state office building. There is still another group which would like to see a bill passed restoring the full amount of the vetoes.

In any event, no path of roses lies before the harried legislators who are eager to begin consideration of a tax program for 1936.

Taxation Job Urged

With the sales tax expiring in December and a number of other revenue bearing measures up for re-enactment, the solons have been urged on all sides to begin work on the taxation measures immediately.

The drivers' license bill, assured of passage by legislative leaders, may also be introduced today and passed before the end of the week. The Governor has signified his intention to approve the bill, which is designed to eliminate some of the reckless drivers from Ohio's roads, strewn with traffic fatalities. The bill will impose a 40 cent license fee on all motorists.

What will be considered by the Senate depends largely upon House action this afternoon. If the House becomes embroiled in a battle over the appropriation bill and no agreement is in sight, the Senate has a bill ready which it will propose. The Senate measure however, calls for increases over the vetoes of almost five million dollars and is certain to be rejected by the Governor, if it passes both houses.

Two Flyers May Die of Hurts;

Wing Spread of 100 Feet
is Unknown

DAYTON, Oct. 30—(INS)—
Two fliers were critically injured
and three others hurt here today
when the $500,000 giant Boeing
bomber, undergoing United States
army air tests, crashed at Wilbur
Wright field.

Major Ployer P. Hill, Seattle,
Wash., chief of the Wright field
staff, and Leslie Tower, Seattle,
pilot for the Boeing company, are near death from burns in a Dayton hospital and Lieut. Donald L.
Tutt, John Cutting and Mark
Koogler, army fliers, are suffering from serious injuries as a result of the crash.

Crash at 9.25 a. m.

The giant "flying fortress,"
bristling with gun turrets and fully equipped with fighting paraphernalia, plunged to the landing field
from a height of a few hundred
feet shortly after taking off at 9.25 a. m., and immediately caught
fire.

Army officials here said they
are unable to determine the cause
of the crash. Both Hill and Tower
were in the cockpit but officials
said they did not know which
pilot was at the controls.

They were trapped in the blaz-
Lieuts. R. K. Giovannoli and L. F.
Harmon, who threw coats about
their heads to protect them from
the flames and dragged the fliers
from the wreckage.

The army accident inquiry
board, named by Brig. Gen. A. W.
Robins, and composed of Lieut.
Col. Lockland, Capt. J. M.
and Capt. H. Z. Bogert, launched
an immediate investigation to de-

Of Newest Type

The huge bomber, newest type
of air fighting machine, had been
undergoing tests at the field in
preparation for the army's purchase of new aircraft, since it was
 flown here from Seattle last August.

In that flight the bomber
traversed the long distance with-
out mishap, making record time of
well over 200 miles an hour.

It had been flown successfully

Ohio fell off almost $22,000 last
week, Pickaway-co receipts were

the Pumpkin show the week be-
$3,202.16 against $2,052.47. The total collection from Pickaway-co to

COLD SPOILS BIG EVENT IN LIFE OF JOE S. SMITH

What was scheduled to be a
red letter day in the life of
Joseph S. Smith, prominent Circleville-twp farmer, has
been spoiled by a severe cold.

Mr. Smith, who completed a
business course at Notre Dame
Ohio State-Notre Dame game.
This game would have been
his first football game. He is believed to be one of the oldest alumnus of the university
in central Ohio.

Mr. Smith announced Wednesday morning he would be
unable to attend and has pre-
Paul.

DENY INJUNCTION IN GUFFEY COAL BILL COURT FIGHT

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30—(INS)—
The government drew first blood
today in the Guffey coal test case
in District of Columbia supreme
court when Justice Jesse Adkins
refused to grant an injunction re-
straining the national bituminous coal commission from enforcing the terms of the act, which sets up a "little NRA" for the soft coal
industry, on the Carter Coal company, of West Virginia.

ATTORNEYS CLEARING WAY FOR HAUPTMANN'S APPEAL

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30—(INS)—
The last obstacle to the appeal
of Bruno Richard Hauptmann to
the Supreme court in an effort
to escape a death sentence in the Lindbergh kidnapping case was
removed today when Hauptmann's
counsel paid the cost of printing
the record.

Although Hauptmann's lawyers
a few days ago were reported to
be experiencing difficulties in raising the money, they succeeded in
obtaining approximately $200.

The record has been ordered
printed and Hauptmann's formal
petition is expected to be filed
soon.

as 26 Degrees Under Zero

A package of severe cold weather, sent from the northwest, is
scheduled to arrive in Circleville by Thursday night sending the mercury down to the freezing point.
Temperatures as low as 26 be-
Canada.

A cold fog centered over central Ohio Tuesday night obscuring
motorists' vision. During the night
several large flocks of wild geese,
flying low because of the fog,
honked their way southward over
the city.

Dr. H. R. Clarke, local weather
recorder, reported the high temperature Tuesday was 64 degrees
and the lowest during the night 48.
Rainfall in the 24 hours preceding
7 a. m. today was .06 of an inch.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 30— (INS)—Icy arctic blasts kept the temperature under 50 degrees today in northern California and at
zero in the Pacific northwest.

Pacific coast from Alaska wrecked
three fishing boats off Victoria, B. C., claiming the life of one fisherman.

The zero temperature at Seattle
was indirectly responsible for the
death of Mrs. Mattie Flaherty, 76,
burned to death in her home.

Fire was attributed to an over-
heated stove.

A snowstorm of blizzard proportions halted automobile travel to
Mt. Hood, near Portland, Ore.

FARMERS UNITE CONTESTING FOR ELECTRIC POWER

an endeavor to solidify 1,255
farm owners of a REA application to finance Champaign-mural electrification co-operative
program, embracing 310 miles of
distribution lines, farm officials
today called a mass meeting of
signers to be held here tomorrow
noon.

Call for the meeting resulted in a vigorous fight for right-of-
way and easements between the
Power & Light Co. in Jackson-
town. Farm officials said the dayton utility had started constructing rural electrification lines
through rich territory where land-
owners had signified intentions of
joining with co-operative farmers'
association.

both of Circleville, arranged to
Wednesday assessed by H. O.
Kvealand, justice of peace, for fail-

Sam Pontius' Car Tries to Move Elsea's Truck

Samuel Pontius, Kinderhook,
sent fined $100 and costs and his driving rights suspended for six months Wednesday morning by Mayor W. B. Cady for driving
while intoxicated.

The fine was suspended and Pontius paid the $8.70 costs when
he informed the mayor he had six
children to support.

Pontius was arrested by police
after his Studebaker sedan crashed into the Dodge truck of Asa Elsea, parked in front of his home
on Scioto-st. between Mound and Franklin-sts.

Pontius suffered a fractured
nose and severe body bruises when
he was thrown against the ster-
office of Dr. E. L. Montgomery.

The accident occurred about 11
p. m. The front end of the Stude-
baker and the bed of the truck
were badly damaged.

investigated the crash.

ing to Alter Plans of House

Tax Program for 1936 Also
to Receive Attention in Special Session, Report

snarled biennial appropriation bill
will be the first order of business
today when the General Assembly
resumes its special session.

Although the Assembly has been
out of session for over a month,
theoretically it has been absent
only for a five minute recess, and
therefore it can reconsider action
on the defeated transfer bill offered
by Gov. Martin L. Davey as the
means of alleviating hardships
caused by his vetoes of $8,800,000
from the budgets.

If the House reconsiders the
transfer bill, the measure will
then be resubmitted to the finance
committee. The latter in turn will
offer immediately the amended
transfer bill, over which committee
members wrangled for three
weeks.

Approves Increases

This measure, the result of a
compromise to "get something
gets of $31,222,000 over the Governor's vetoes. Radical "On" are still barring further amendments,
the Democratic majority in the House would be inclined to pass
the bill and send it on to the Senate. The upper chamber does not meet until tonight.

However, numerous factions are
eager to revise the appropriation
measure. One of these factions is
backed by Ohio State university
alumni who assert that the proposed increase of $387,000 over the
vetoes in the OSU budget is insufficient. The governor slashed
approximately $1,250,000 from the university's appropriations. An-
other faction seeks to restore the $750,000 item vetoed by the governor and not restored by the finance committee for retirement of

James T. Shea, manager, and Miss Jane Mader of the local re-
employment office, were in Lancaster Tuesday attending a district NRS meeting, called to ac-
quaint the branches with a new
statistical system.

This system, being introduced
into the service, is regarded as a
preparatory step in the operation
of the newly-enacted Social Security act.

The chief feature of the system
is a "perpetual inventory file" containing a card for each Ohioan
applying for work in NRS offices.
The file for Ohio will be maintained at Columbus and information
from it will be sent periodically to Washington authorities.

The meeting was in charge of
A. M. Howard, district manager.

(INS)—Gossip centers of Holly-
wood buzzed today with news of
Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., and Elissa
Landi, who are making a picture
together in London.

The new interest, filmland hears,
has completely killed any chance
of a reconciliation between young
Fairbanks and Gertrude Lawrence,
English stage star, to whom he
was reported engaged soon after John Crawford divorced him and
he went abroad to live.

BAUM DITCH SUPERVISOR: NAMED BY COMMISSIONERS

Joseph Baum has been appointed
by the county commissioners as
ditch supervisor for the improvement of the Hines county ditch in Wadsworth and Madison-twps., and the E. W. Peters county ditch in Walden-twp. The ditches will be cleaned out and repaired.

American hotel.

Announcement of the

REPORT HITLER ASKS TO TRADE IN AFRICAN WAR

May Ask British to Return

By International News Service

Diplomatic activity aimed at
peace overshadowed the military
movements in the Italo-Ethiopian
war today.

H. R. Knickerbocker reported
from Addis Ababa that Germany
was studying a "deal" by which
she would agree to co-operate in
application of economic sanctions
against Italy if Britain would re-
turn to her African colonies taken
after the World war. Paris heard
a similar report in which Britain
was pictured as bringing pressure
on Berlin to stop a potential leak
in the Anti-Italian economic siege.

While Sir Samuel Hoare, British foreign minister, was publicly
admitting in London that peace
talks were under way, it was
learned in Paris that the new
"yard-stick" peace plan is based
on "co-operation" between Italy
and Ethiopia.

Meanwhile Italian columns on
the northern front pressed south-
ward toward Makale, and a month-
ing also was heavy along the Setit
river, on the northwestern front.

On the southern front Italian Dabat troops were reported to have captured a fort in a surprise
raid.

CONGRESS POLL IS FAVORING FDR

House Members Reply Presi-

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30—(INS)—
Democrat members of congress believe that President Roosevelt will sweep the nation in a campaign for reelection.

This was disclosed today by
members of the Democratic congressional campaign committee,
which made a survey of the president's popularity.

The survey, which was started
before congress ended, was designed to give accurate answers to the question of whether or not the president was favored for renomination and whether he would be reelected.

Two hundred and twenty-five of
the 313 Democratic members of
the house have replied to the questionnaire of Chairman Drevrey
(D) of Virginia.

A strong majority, members
said, reported that Mr. Roosevelt
is popular with the rank and file
of the voters.

They concede that strong results have set in against the administration among business
men and professional groups. The
large majority, according to committee members, report that the
president will carry their districts
in the next election.

POLICE ARE LINKED WITH STUEBENVILLE 'LEGGING

STUEBENVILLE, Oct. 30—
(INS)—City officials today defended the police department as
federal authorities probed charges
police raiders had been used to booby-hug a new development
death of L. S. Prevatt, deputy U.S.
Marshal slain by an unknown
gunman Monday.

Safety Director John Madigan
denied charges of bootlegging by
police men unfounded after he had
conducted a personal investigation, quizzing every member of
the city law enforcement staff last
night.

70 Leaders Hear Three Speakers

Day to Party; Davey Praised By Speaker of House

Seventy of Pickaway-cos leading Democrats, executive and central committeemen, went about their pre-election duties today with new vigor as a result of a rousing
get-together meeting at the Pickaway Country club Tuesday evening.

They were urged first by Chairman George G. Ad-
kins, then by Clerk of the House Fred Elsass, and lastly

Speaker of the House J. Freer Bittinger. Those three were the only speakers but they wakened the rooster
from a slumber that has continued since the last congressional, gubernatorial and presidential elections in pleas that they
work toward election of Democrats
to the minor offices, municipality,
village and township, to "provide a
foundation upon which the state

Chairman Adkins urged all central committeemen to devote their
time next Tuesday to "being on
the ground" to do what they could
to elect their candidates.

Mr. Elsass, who comes from
Anna, Shelby-co, declared the

REPLACE POULSON?
Asked concerning vacancy
of reports that he would soon
assume the leadership of the Democratic party in Ohio,
Speaker Bittinger declared:

"There is emphatically no
truth to any such report."
Francis Poulson is now
the Democratic chairman.

country is "getting back to its
fundamentals" as the result of the
depression and that voters are
taking much more care in marking
their ballots. "When the country
was more prosperous, when there
was plenty of money, taxpayers
didn't care who was in office,
what taxes were of where money
went," he declared. "But now, as
a result of the depression, they
are putting the men into office
whom they think will better serve
them."

The clerk of the House of Representatives paid tribute to Clark
K. Hunsicker, Pickaway-co's representative in the assembly, and termed him "safe, sound, and progressive."

Served With 3 Countians
Mr. Bittinger, introduced by
Mr. Hunsicker, the toastmaster, as
the principal speaker lauded the
last three representatives Picka-
way-co has had, Walter Marion,
Nathan Bohnert, and Mr. Hunsick-
er. He served with Mr. Marion
in the 88th General Assembly when
there were only 11 Democrats in
the House and none in the Senate.

Mr. Bittinger made an urgent
plea that voters take an interest
in the minor office elections. "It is
true," he said, "there are no actual national and state issues
in this election, but your at-home
elections establish the foundation
and groundwork with which our
state and national leaders must
work. We cannot claim office because of errors our opponents have
made but we must go out and be
elected on our own records."

"There is a splendid example of
this case going on right now in
our own state," the speaker declared.

"While serving in office," he
continued, "we must serve the

He was unable to furnish bond.
The charge was filed against Boyssel by Alva Swank, also of

calibre bullet wounds in a shooting
affray Monday afternoon.

RADCLIFF FREES DRIVER OF AUTO IN BUS MISHAP

Following a complete investigation of the school bus-auto collision
on Route 25, Tuesday morning,
Sheriff Charles Radcliff reported
no charges would be filed against
D. R. Martinell, 40, of McArthur,
driver of the car.

Martinell and Abbott Silva, 50,
reported to the sheriff Tuesday
afternoon after keeping an appointment in Columbus. Both men
were severely bruised in the crash
and Silva suffered a laceration on
the forehead.

County officials considered the
accident unavoidable due to the

Who'll be the First November Baby?

A group of Circleville's progressive merchants have joined together to do honor to the fortunate boy or girl who is the first to be born in November in Circleville. Under the plan adopted these merchants will extend their congratulations in the substantial form of gifts to the First Baby of November and its parents. The gifts will be given to the first boy or girl to be born after midnight, October 31, 1935, this baby to be declared November's First Baby.

To qualify a baby its birth should be reported immediately to The Herald by telephone or in person, giving the name and address of the parents, with the exact hour and minute of birth and the name of the attending physician. Parents of the First Born must reside in the corporation limits of Circleville.

As soon as possible the parents of the first born will call at this office and receive from the Baby of The Month Editor a certificate which will entitle them to the gifts and prizes the cooperating merchants are giving away.

INDIAN SUMMER?

WE WILL not be so rash as to hazard the belief that we are now in the midst of Indian summer. The time of the arrival of this brief season of warm, hazy, autumnal weather has long been involved in controversy and every definite statement that it has appeared, regardless of the time, is challenged by those who pretend to greater knowledge of the subject than the Indians themselves possessed.

The New England tribes believed this summer to be caused by a wind blowing from their great god of the Southwest, who sent them their maize, beans and other blessings and cared for the souls of their dead. But they never expected the season's advent at any definite time. They waited patiently and, when it came, often after heavy frosts or snow flurries, they welcomed it.

We should at least be as philosophical in the matter as they and should refrain from quibbling over the question of whether Indian summer has come and gone, whether it is here at present or is still on its way. Quite possibly we are even now enjoying its delights of warmth and haze and radiant beauty on every hillside and in the valleys and even along the tree-lined city streets. But whether this is Indian summer or something else again is unimportant so long as its appeal remains undiminished.

RULE BY A WAR LORD

THERE are many objections to the new scheme of national life proposed by General Ludendorff for adoption in Germany, one of which seals its doom. It provides no place for Adolf Hitler.

And for even more important reasons it is a plan which never should reach fulfillment. The unalloyed delights of life in Germany even under the present order are questionable. Under the regime proposed by Ludendorff, life would indeed be a dismal business.

Haste, not speed, has been cited as a cause of most motor accidents. It is all right, then, to go fast but not if you're in a hurry.

WORLD AT A GLANCE

President Roosevelt, speaking at Charleston just after landing from his recent ocean holiday, paid a high tribute to Senator James F. Byrnes' loyal and efficient services to the administration.

It was natural in the president to praise Byrnes, a South Carolina senator, before a South Carolina audience, rather than to speak of the loyalty and efficiency of Senator Joseph T. Robinson of Arkansas or Senator Joseph E. Guffey of Pennsylvania, who are of no particular interest to Carolinians.

It struck many politicians as odd, however, that he omitted saying a good word also for Senator D. Smith, who is as much a South Carolinian as is Byrnes.

BYRNES UP FOR RE-ELECTION

There is the possible explanation that the White House tenant considered Byrnes more in need of ballyhooing than Smith at this special juncture. Byrnes is up for renomination and re-election next year, whereas Smith will not be a candidate until 1938.

Such reasoning might have accounted for a louder peddling of Byrnes than Smith.

The truth is that New Deal strategists don't classify Smith as a New Dealer. They don't want a Republican in his place (a ridiculous idea in South Carolina, anyway) but certainly they wouldn't mind seeing him beaten for 1938's Democratic renomination.

BRITISH AND ITALIAN PUBLIC NOW SOJIDLY BEHIND THEIR LEADERS

WASHINGTON—The picture of the international situation placed before the President immediately after his return to the White House was not as clear as it might have been.

But out of the maze of reports cabled to the State Department or received verbally from diplomats returned from Europe, the following points stood out:

1. Italy is virtually 100 per cent behind Mussolini.

The original inertia of the working classes, the positive antipathy of the intellectuals, and the lukewarm enthusiasm of the General Staff now have been replaced by strong support. Some opposition may lurk beneath the surface, but it is negligible. And it will take either a major defeat or a protracted war to turn public sentiment against Il Duce.

2. British public opinion has reached a pitch akin to religious fervor in its demand that the League prevent war.

As one high British diplomat put it, the people of England have substituted love of peace for love of the church. Peace has become a religion. They are willing to go to any lengths—even war—to back it up.

This feeling probably represents seventy to eighty per cent of the country. The rest, chiefly Tories, are equally behind the League, though for an entirely different reason. They fear an Italian Empire near the Red Sea life-line of the British Empire.

3. France will NOT support the British if it comes to a showdown against Italy.

According to the report given Roosevelt, France is as anxious to keep out of war as the United States. Every morning posters smeared over the walls of Paris proclaim: "No troops shall be moved to support the League."

For Premier Laval to take a strong stand against Italy would mean his immediate downfall.

FARLEY MEMORY

CHAPTER 39

IT WAS ONLY a little after seven when Carol let herself into her own apartment. The night was bitter cold, she but a shivering bundle of blue and her blue suit was much too young for her for all that it was of good quality.

The clerk looked at her pityingly as she trotted off to the elevator with her shabby little old-fashioned bag and thought of the pretty young thing who had been in the same direction when Broadway had forgotten them. If he had pity but not admiration for Miss Josephine Delacourt, Miss Josephine Delacourt had immense admiration for herself as she studied her handiwork in the grimy mirror of the hotel bedroom. The name was a fine touch she thought as she regretted the rough and ready lipstick. The high heels of her borrowed shoes had tired her and she slipped them off. The blue hat and suit followed and she lay down in her old-fashioned cotton slip. For there was nothing in the little bag save two bath towels which would never be used in her plans for flight.

Would she be safe in that hotel? She thought it the most unlikely place in the world that a search would be made for her and she hoped, with hard-beating heart, that the clerk would never identify the cheap, faded thing as the missing Miss Van Cleve. Miss Van Cleve was very, very glad she had read so many modern novels and seen so many movies. She was beginning to enjoy herself. If the rest of her night was to prove as much fun, she thought the whole pattern of her life would be changed. She shut out the terrible thought of what discovery would mean. Even David would never believe in her.

She fell asleep to dream of herself explaining to David that she had found the fountain of youth. The next morning Carol bought all the papers. She scanned them from cover to cover but not a line did she see that would suggest how could that be? She had expected to see it blazoned all over the headlines. Perhaps they had not been discovered. They? No, the Van Cleves would not suspect that Carol had anything to do with it. At least she hoped they wouldn't.

She did not leave her apartment that day; there was a reason why she must stay there. There was the message she was waiting for! At noon, her bell rang. Obeying a sudden impulse, she put the suitcase in her bedroom and closed the door, flung up the top of the empty desk and pulled out the summer cover before she answered. She didn't want the answer to look as though its owner might be going away.

Fear rose swiftly when she found a blue-coated officer standing at the door. "Miss Kennedy?" the officer asked. "I am Miss Kennedy," Carol said.

and there was exactly the right shade of polite surprise in her voice that any girl would have finding a policeman on her threshold. "You the nurse who attended Miss Miranda Van Cleve?"

"I am," she said quietly, and then with a trace of concern: "Is there anything wrong, officer?"

"Why, of course," Carol laughed, one very little how-silly-of-you-sort of laugh. "Miss Van Cleve would be at her residence. She was ill when I was dismissed, and a trained nurse was in attendance."

"Yeah, I know all that, but she ain't there. This lady has disappeared." Carol made no answer as she couldn't believe him. "Oh, officer, how could she? Where could she have gone?"

Certainly, officer, won't you come in? Carol put out her courteousness in her invitation as she struck the right note again. "I'll be glad to tell you all I know. Miss Van Cleve has another nephew but he... she had just heard of his death. That was why she was taken suddenly ill."

"Yeah. They sort of said she wasn't all there. She disappeared some time between 10 o'clock and midnight and if you ask me, she'll turn up in the morgue. An old lady like that can't disappear on a cold night like last night and stay missing."

"Oh, I hope not. I hope they will find her." Concern shook Carol's voice. "She is so helpless and so am I because I know of nothing that would help you."

"She'll turn up today. The family don't want the papers to know about it yet and they asked me to tell you the same. If you hear of anything, call headquarters, will you?"

"I will, officer, indeed I will. Can I offer you some coffee? I was just getting my lunch."

The telephone rang out with a shrill ring but Carol made no move to answer it. She pretended utter deafness as she smiled at the policeman who took endless time to make his departure.

The phone was still ringing when Carol closed the door behind him. She ran to the bedroom, lifted the receiver from its hook and when she heard a voice at the other end she whispered:

"Wait!"

AT THE CLIFTONA

"Action-packed" is the only term to describe "Woman Want-shire," Metro - Goldwyn - Mayer's amazing new story of the law and its battle against organized crime, now playing at the Cliftona Theatre.

Maureen O'Sullivan is delightful as Ann, the heroine, both pursuing and pursued in the rapid-fire action of the story. She is teamed romantically with Joel McCrea, athletic young leading man, who repeats the splendid performance he gave in "Private Worlds."

Lewis Stone is dominant as the district attorney who turns detective, and comedy is provided in hilarious sequences between McCrea and Adrienne Ames, playing a jealous and suspicious fiancée. Robert Grieg, who enacts the pompous butler, and Edgar Kennedy in the role of the dumb hotel detective, Sweney.

AT THE GRAND

Laughter and drama combined with a real love story, characterize the new Warner Bros. comedy "Don't Bet on Blondes" feature production at the Grand theatre beginning today.

Warren William, for the first time cast in a light comedy role, and Guy Kibbee, have the principal parts. They are supported by a big cast of film favorites which includes Clare Dodd, William Garman, Vince Barnett and Hobart Cavanaugh.

"MY HEART'S IN THE HIGHLANDS"

My heart's in the Highlands, my heart is not here; My heart's in the Highlands a-chasing the deer; A-chasing the wild deer, and following the roe— My heart's in the Highlands wherever I go.

Farewell to the Highlands, farewell to the North. The birthplace of valor, the country of worth; Wherever I wander, wherever I rove The hills of the Highlands for ever I love.

Farewell to the mountains high covered with snow; Farewell to the straths and green valleys below; Farewell to the forests and wild hanging woods; Farewell to the torrents and loud-pouring floods.

My heart's in the Highlands, my heart is not here; My heart's in the Highlands a-chasing the deer; A-chasing the wild deer, and following the roe— My heart's in the Highlands wherever I go.

Tularemia Is a Disease Often Acquired by Hunters

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

ABOUT THIS time of year, the doctors in the small towns in the neighborhood of good hunting districts may expect to have a patient or two come to them to see about a peculiar sore on one of his fingers or the back of the hand. The story is that this ulcer has been there a week or more, and doesn't seem to want to heal and the part that really worries the patient is that the lymph nodes in the inner side of the elbow or in the arm-pit have swollen up and are red and painful.

For the disease is tularemia, one of those transmitted directly from animal to man. It is very common in rabbits all over the country, and is also found in squirrel and quail. The germ is killed by cooking, so there is no danger in eating the flesh of the infected animals. But the germ easily enters the system through small cuts for even the faint skin when the fresh blood of the animal is touched, as in skinning or dressing.

Prevention is easy and consists in wearing rubber gloves while dressing wild game.

It is an occupational disease in that butchers and hunters are the regular recipients.

The form I have just described is the usual one. Sometimes the glands swell up without any apparent port of entry on the skin, but this is usually because the little sore has healed up without being noticed.

Another form affects the eyes producing a superficial ulceration, and, in fact, some of the first cases were discovered by an oculist in Arizona. The infection is conveyed to the eye by rubbing the eye with infected fingers.

It is worth noting that a general practitioner, Dr. R. A. Pearce of Brigham City, Utah, reported cases of this kind from the bite of the deer as early as 1910. In fact, when I first heard the disease described, the speaker began by saying: "Here is a new disease, fathered by a general practitioner, mothered by an oculist, and delivered by a U. S. public health laboratory worker."

Tularemia in man is not serious in most instances, recovery being the rule in the vast majority of instances. But the disability is sufficiently uncomfortable and time-consuming to warrant observance of the method of prevention advocated above.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Six pamphlets by Dr. Clendening can now be obtained by sending 10 cents in coin, for each, and a self-addressed envelope stamped with a three-cent stamp to Dr. Logan Clendening, in care of this paper. The pamphlets are: "Indigestion and Constipation," "Reducing and Gaining," "Infant Feeding," "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes," "Feminine Hygiene," and "The Care of the Hair and Skin."

CONTRACT BRIDGE

By E. A. SHEPARD, Famous Bridge Teacher

AN UNUSUAL HAND

FEW PLAYERS realize how rare an event a 7-6-0 division of a hand really is. The odds against a particular player holding such a hand are 19,813 to 1. Unless partner is trickless, and the two long suits lack high honors, one suit or the other should be worth at least game. Such one-sided strength often is both difficult to bid correctly and hard to play to best advantage. North and South did well with their holdings.

Declarer led off his K of trumps, then he gave West a trump trick, clearing up that suit, but leaving declarer with only 2 trumps, one of which he had to use to ruff the return lead of a low spade. At the eighth trick dummy was put in the lead with its lone Ace of clubs. The Ace and K of hearts were led. On them North discarded his 6 and 9 of clubs. Luckily for declarer, the hearts broke, and both his K and J of clubs could have been discarded upon the two low hearts in dummy, but he chose to win the twelfth and thirteenth tricks by trumping a low heart, then playing his good K of clubs. You often will note that declarer seems as if he wanted to win as many tricks as possible in his own hand, perhaps to avoid an insinuation that dummy alone enabled him to fulfill his contract. In any event, North fulfilled his small slam contract.

Bidding went: South, 2-Hearts; North, 2-Diamonds, thereby showing at least one quick trick, as otherwise he would have bid 2-No Trumps, then showing his long suits later on, to avoid being put into a slam contract. South, 3-Hearts, as the opening force deemed keeping bidding alive until game has been bid. North, 4-Clubs; South, 4-Spades, showing a second suit, evidently considerably shorter than hearts, as the lower ranking suit had been rebid before.

Salad Fried Apple Pies Coffee
For the salad arrange shredded cabbage or lettuce on individual salad plates, and arrange several stalks of canned asparagus in the middle, flanked on each side by halves of hard-boiled eggs.

Today's Recipes

Whole-Meal Baked Potatoes—Six large potatoes, three tablespoons butter, two teaspoons flour, one-half cup milk, one-fourth teaspoon salt, one-fourth teaspoon prepared mustard, one-half cup minced onion, two cups cooked chopped meat, four tablespoons chopped pickle, one-half cup buttered bread crumbs. Bake the potatoes and remove the potato, leaving a good shell of skin. Mash the potato with salt and two tablespoons of the butter. Make a cream sauce of the remaining butter, flour, milk and seasonings. Add to the potato with the onion, meat, (which may be beef, chicken, veal, sausage or a combination), and pickle. Beat together lightly and pile in the shells. Top with the bread crumbs and bake in a hot oven for 15 minutes.

FACTS AND FANCIES

How to Wash Silks
Use lukewarm water and any mild, pure soap flakes. Make generous suds and squeeze suds through the silk, instead of rubbing. Knead the soiled spots gently. Rinse the garment in two or three waters and hang out of the sun to dry. When nearly dry, press with moderately hot iron. Pongee silks should be allowed to dry before ironing.

Put Salt in It
When stirring up a batter of either water and flour or milk and flour (for gravy, etc.) add a pinch of salt to dry flour to prevent lumping when liquid is added.

Uses Fruit
For buffet suppers, Lily Pons, opera singer, occasionally uses fruits and nuts instead of flowers to decorate the table. She prefers using several varieties of one fruit, such as green and purple grapes or yellow and crimson apples. Following the supper, the guests have the pleasure of eating the decorations.

IT COSTS ONLY $55 TO INSULATE AN ATTIC, SIZE 28x30, WITH WOOL

The installation of Insulating Wool in a home is almost unique as an investment. Most improvements that you put into your home pay only one kind of a dividend, that is, dividend of comfort. But efficient insulation such as you get with Insulating Wool at a reasonable cost pays a dividend in real money, which you get in a reduced expenditure for fuel.

SAVINGS IN FUEL PAYS FOR INSULATION

At average fuel prices, regardless of whether you use coal or gas, the saving in fuel will in a very few years pay for the total cost of protecting your home with wool insulation. Regardless of whether you are interested in fuel saving or in comfort—comfort summer and winter—there is no more practical way to get it than through the use of insulating wool.

INSTALLED WITHOUT INCONVENIENCE TO DWELLER

The installation of Insulating Wool in your home can be completed with practically no inconvenience to you. For example this wool is so light that the amount used is only eight ounces per square foot of area covered. This means that it is readily handled without upsetting the routine of the home. It is clean, sanitary; it can be installed at any time or any season. The labor cost of insulating is small . . . or you can do this work yourself.

WE WILL BE GLAD TO GIVE YOU FULL INFORMATION ON THE INSULATING COST OF YOUR HOME. JUST PHONE 269

MAYOR FAVORS CLEAN FUN FOR CITY THURSDAY

The clown's millennium comes Thursday night. Ghosts, skeletons and the other grotesque characters of Halloween will parade the streets and attend social events and home parties arranged for the celebration. Faces done in oil will be in vogue. Residents have been warned by the police department to place all movable flora and fauna out of the reach of pranksters. Clean fun will be permitted but Mayor Cady has issued a warning anyone destroying property will be haled into court.

The parade, sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce, will be held at 8 p. m. It will form at Court and Mound-sts. The line of march follows: north on Court to High; west on High to Scioto; south on Scioto to Main; east on Main to Pickaway; south on Pickaway to Franklin; west on Franklin to Court, and countermarch on Court to Union. The judges will be stationed at the courthouse. Committeemen last night voted not to hold a dance after the parade. This money will be used for the purchase of red fire for the parade.

The Circleville high school bands and American Legion drum corps will furnish the music and all organizations plan to appear in costume.

H. L. Steinhilber is general chairman of the event and Frank Lench will be parade marshal.

HIGH JUDGE UPHOLDS TOBACCO ROAD SHOW

CHICAGO, Oct. 30.—(INS)—The cast of "Tobacco Road," will treat the boards once again here tonight.

Producers of the play, closed as "Obscene and Filthy," by Mayor Edward J. Kelly, Oct. 21, won a complete victory over the city in federal court here yesterday.

Judge William A. Holly overruled a motion of the city for dissolution of the temporary restraining order prohibiting city officials from interfering with presentation of the play.

SCHOOL HELD ALL OVER KINGSTON; BUILDING ON

School is held all over Kingston these days.

If Johnnie's in the first grade he goes to the Presbyterian church. If Mary's in the fifth or sixth grade she goes to the old Eastern Star lodge room.

Work has been started on razing the old grade school as a federal project and classes are held where rooms are available. Material from the old building will be used for the construction of a new four-room grade school.

The second grade is holding classes in the Men's brotherhood room of the Methodist church. The third and fourth grades are occupying the M. E. church school rooms.

NEW PASTOR TAKES OVER AFRICAN METHODIST, JOB

Greeting From Governor He expressed a personal felicitation from the governor, who, he said, was sorry he could not also attend the meeting. "Mr. Davey," he told the committeemen, "depends on Pickaway-co and upon Mr. Hunsicker for support."

Mr. Bittinger traced the fight of the Republican party with the Constitution as the basis of its efforts. He recited that 40 laws declared unconstitutional by the Supreme court only 10 had been passed by a congress controlled by Democrats.

"The Republicans," he stated, "poured millions of dollars into banks and railroads for recovery knowing that it would eventually end up in the hands of a few. President Roosevelt believes that recovery can only be made by giving the money to the people themselves and not to the few. This is one of the fundamental differences between Republicans and Democrats."

He declared the Social Security Act signed by the President, the greatest single law in history.

The speaker came valiantly to the defense of Gov. Davey, whom he gave credit for "attempting in Columbus, despite tremendous opposition from some newspapers, to give the people of Ohio the kind of government they want."

SOLONS RETURN, FACE DIFFICULT BUDGET CONTEST

Continued from Page One pletion of the new state office building. There is still another group which would like to see a bill passed restoring the full amount of the vetoes.

With the sales tax expiring in December and a number of other revenue bearing measures up for re-enactment, the solons have been urged on all sides to begin work on the taxation measures immediately.

The drivers' license bill, assurance of passage by legislative leaders, may also be introduced today and passed before the end of the week. The Governor has signified his intention to approve the bill, which is designed to eliminate some of the reckless drivers from Ohio's roads, strewn with traffic fatalities. The bill will impose a 40 cent license fee on all motorists.

What will be considered by the Senate depends largely upon House action this afternoon. If the House becomes embroiled in a battle over the appropriation bill and no agreement is in sight, the Senate has a bill ready which it will propose. The Senate measure however, calls for increases over the vetoes of almost five million dollars and is certain to be rejected by the Governor, if it passes both houses.
